

May 14, 2010

Dear Representatives and 2001 Co. Associates:

2001 Co. IBC codes and approvals are based on Sarnafil and Carlisle plus Kelly Co. / 2001 Inc. UL Underwriters Laboratories fire and wind ratings.

Attached are Carlisle and Sika Sarnafil building code ratings from IBC International Building Code roofing assemblies found in their ICC-ES Legacy reports.

Do notice that neither Sika Sarnafil nor Carlisle have wind uplift ratings. They only have Fire Ratings so each and every individual roof assembly is evaluated with the local building inspector on a job by job basis for wind uplift. This is a major advantage for you, the 2001 Co. representative. 2001 Co. can assist you now in all of your codes and approved submittals to local building officials on the wind uplift aspect of a wind vented roof.

Do note that you have a special sales advantage with code officials and building inspectors using 2001 wind uplift test data from UL.

Kelly Co. / 2001 Inc. has the option to mechanically fasten a roof membrane in the interior of a roof or if we choose to let the roof membrane be loose laid in our UL wind ratings. Therefore the loose laid wind vented roof is now code compliant.

For your greater intellectual service to your potential customers, building owners, engineers, roof specifiers, etc. Enclosed are copies of the actual building code 2010 version and the acceptance criteria for membrane roof covering systems.

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 2557, Waterbury, CT 06723-2557
Shipping Address: 325 Thomaston Avenue, Waterbury, CT 06702
Tel: (203) 575-9220 ● Fax: (203) 573-0781 ● www.2001Company.com

If you become knowledgeable of the intent of the code contained here you will be able to win 2001 Co. wind vented roof assemblies with your own building inspectors and double your income.

Yours truly,

Thomas L. Kelly
President

P.S. Instructions to download IBC-ICC-ES building code reports directly from website:

www.icc-es.org

Search for a specific report

From the drop down menu select ICC-ES Reports

Enter the report number if you have it, if not just press search

Mailing Address: P.O. Box 2557, Waterbury, CT 06723-2557
Shipping Address: 325 Thomaston Avenue, Waterbury, CT 06702
Tel: (203) 575-9220 ● Fax: (203) 573-0781 ● www.2001Company.com